

This Privacy Statement describes how we collect and use your information and gives you options as to how we use it. We suggest that you review this Privacy Statement periodically as we may update it from time to time. This policy was last updated on May 11, 2011.

How do you use my information?

Rest assured, your personal information will never be given to any outside company, under any circumstance. The information we receive allows us to tailor our product offerings and improve your user experience, making things easier and more enjoyable. The information you supply to us is added to our customer database. You may receive periodic SMS text messages or e-mails from us about new products and services, discounts, special promotions or upcoming events. If you do not want to receive such mailings or telephone calls from us, you will be able to unsubscribe at any time.

To Unsubscribe from Tag Messenger Email:

If for any reason you would like to be taken off the email list that notifies you of upcoming events and news, simply click the unsubscribe link provided at the bottom of every email we send.